

A STUDY OF ATTITUDES TOWARDS JEWS AMONG BLACK SOUTH AFRICANS

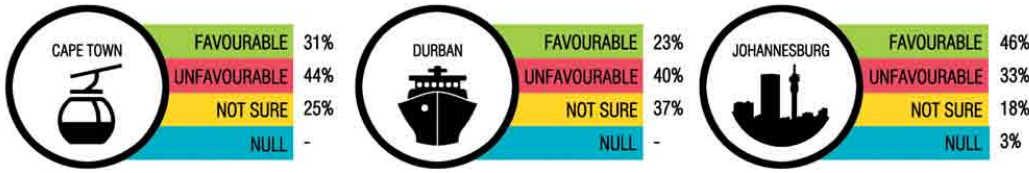

The Kaplan Centre for Jewish Studies at UCT conducted a groundbreaking study that involved interviews with a representative sample of urban Black South Africans in Johannesburg, Durban, and Cape Town. This is a selection of findings from the larger study. Analysis and interpretation of these findings is available in the full report, and in a ten page summary version. The report, summary, survey questionnaire, and raw data are available at www.kaplancentre.uct.ac.za/
