

Play name: Worst of Both Worlds
Author: Bulelani Mabutyana
Published: 2014. Junkets. Cape Town
Characters: Ada

ADA:

Smile, baby, smile. You know why? Because you have a gift, a gift for making every man happy. When they are stressed and no longer happy, they come to you; you restore that happiness. Your gift restores that happiness. Even when they are in trouble with their families, they come to you to calm them down. Your gift has no class and it has no limits; a man can be old as God himself, but you will still make him happy. Even when they are too drunk, too high, they don't forget you. So I want you to put a smile on that beautiful face and know that we run the world, baby. Don't worry, we will have fun (jumps on table.) Here we have three simple rules, which is to make money, money and more money. To make money, we use our gift, which is the way you pose, the way you look, the way you lick, the way you lick your legs, your lips, and the way you play with these babies.

ADA touches her breasts.